TEXT WITH PADA MARKERS

[Notes by D. Goodall:]

Some corrections from Raniero GNOLI's

Udbhata's Commentary on the Kavyalamkara of Bhamaha with an Appendix by Margherita Taticchi including some fragments of Kalidasa's Raghuvamsa.

Literary and Historical Documents from Pakistan II. Rome: Istituto Italiano per il Medio ed Estremo Oriente, 1962.

Supplemented with readings (not consistently in the 1st 3 chapters) from Kashi Sanskrit Series 61, the 1928 edition of Batuk Natha "Sarma and Baldeva Upadhyaya (edB):

Kavyalankara of Bhamaha Edited With Introduction etx. By Batuk Nath

Sarma, M.A., Sahityopadhyaya,

and Baldeva Upadhyaya, M.A., Sahitya Sastri,

Professors, Benares Hindu University. With a Foreword By Principal A.B. Dhruva,

M.A., LL.B.,

Pro-Vice-Chancellor, Benares Hindu University.

The Kashi Sanskrit Series (Haridas Sanskrit Granthamala) 61 (Alankara Sastra Section No. 2.)

Benares: Chowkhamba Sanskrit Series Office, 1928.

The recent Chowkhamba edition (Kavyalankara of Bhamah [sic] with

`Aanand' Hindi commentary

by Dr. Ramanand Sharma. Chowkhamba Sanskrit Series 110. Varanasi: Chowkhamba

Sanskrit Series Office, 2002) has been ignored. The Hindi translation may be useful, but the edition is not a careful one:

it incorporates the suggestions of earlier editors intermittently and without acknowledgement (e.g.6:60), and it sometimes translates someone's improvement without accepting it into the text (e.g. 6:56a). It takes no account of GNOLI (see e.g. 1:9).

No other editions available to me at the moment; but D.T. Tatacharya Siromani's edition with his commentary (udyanavrtti) published from Tiruvadi in 1934 (according to GNOLI 1962:xxxix, fn.2) should be sought.
